TZD Loading Dock Enclosures

Enclose open loading dock areas for security, energy savings and increased employee comfort.

Affordable comfort, productivity and energy savings

Zoneworks® custom-designed loading dock enclosures can produce dramatic effects at your dock.

- Keep wind and inclement weather outside, and a safe, comfortable environment inside
- Reduce facility heating and cooling costs around loading dock zones
- Protect product from weather-related damage
- Maintain consistent temperatures and humidity levels in your facility

Zoneworks' team of design and application experts will evaluate your existing docks and recommend a combination of modular insulated panels, sliding fabric doors and custom framing to create a state-of-the-art enclosure. Turn-key support is provided for all stages of a project, from design through installation.

Improve employee comfort and safety, and reduce energy costs.

TZD

Custom-designed Zoneworks® TZD Loading Dock Enclosures create a durable, affordable and effective environmental solution at interior or exterior open loading docks.

Durable construction and custom design ensure your satisfaction.

Zoneworks loading dock enclosures consist of flexible, insulated wall panels constructed of layers of industrial vinyl fabric wrapped around anti-microbial polyester batting. The modular panels attach securely with Velcro. Custom engineering ensures proper fit around corners and obstructions. Wind retention and structural framing methods are included in project design. Heavy-duty fabric curtain doors close off openings for trailer access when trailers are not present or not in use. Galvanized vertical control staffs with drop pins and floor sockets add stability in windy conditions.

Barriers without barriers

At Zoneworks, we're experts in the design and construction of flexible wall systems for all your environmental zoning needs. Our products meet the highest quality standards, and turn-key project support – including energy-savings and cost-justification analysis – are provided for every job.

Zoneworks is part of the Rite-Hite family of companies, all focused on leading-edge technology and innovative alternatives for industry's toughest safety, security and energy-savings challenges.
